

Press Release

Sir Liam Fox is a MP.

He wants to make abortion law the same for everyone.

Abortion means to choose not to be pregnant anymore.

Right now the law says that women can only choose an abortion until their 24th week of being pregnant and not after.

But there is a part of the law that says when a baby has Down syndrome women can choose an abortion after 24 weeks up to birth.

Sir Liam Fox thinks that part of the abortion law is wrong and unfair.

He wants all babies to be protected by the 24 week rule under the Criminal Justice Bill.

Others in government also think that babies with Down syndrome should have the same rights as everyone else under the Equality Act.

The United Nations says the same and thinks we should change the law in our country to make all babies equal.

The United Nations is an organisation made up of many countries working together to make the world a safer and better place

The NDSPG agree with this and want to help to change the abortion law so that all babies are treated the same.
